SUBJECT: Visit to Headquarters by David Kahn

1. David Kahn, author of several books and numerous articles on cryptography and military intelligence and whom you know, will be at Headquarters for a discussion with up to 15 Senior Intelligence Service (SIS) officers regarding his book, The Codebreakers, on 12 December 1985. The discussion will be the first of a new series of seminars with authors of books on intelligence or national security as part of the Office of Training and Education's Executive Development Program. The meeting with Dr. Kahn will be held in the DCI Conference Room between 1700 and 1900 hours.

2. Dr. Kahn informed me in a phone conversation today that he intends to arrive in Washington a few hours in advance of his scheduled appearance at CIA in order to conduct some other business. He did not request a meeting with you but I received the impression that, if possible, he would like to see you either before or during his meeting with the SIS officers.
